BASKETBALLERS FROM TORONTO BATTLE TO-DAY

Biggest Game of Season at Highlanders' Armory.

EXPECT BIG CROWD.

Blue and White Will Try to Stop McGill's Victorious March.

The Basketball Team is on edge for the game with 'Varsity this afternoon in the Highlanders' Armory, 429, Bleury Street, just below Sherbrooke Street, at 3.15 o'clock. Never in the history of the team have the men been going as well as during the past week, and they have only to keep up the pace to-day to carry off another victory.

Both McGill and 'Varsity have defeated Queen's, but McGill won from the Tri-Color outfit at Kingston, while the victory went to Toronto in the home town of the latter team. If McGill wins this afternoon she will be at the top of the League, and at the worst Toronto can scarcely do more than tie her for the honors at the end of the season; while the chances are that the title will come to the Red and White quintette. A loss to McGill to-day would mean that our team would be at a disadvantage for the rest of the season, and would have to win the remainder of the games to get into a play-off.

"Bones" Little, the captain of the team, is travelling around with a smile on his face these days, as he feels quite confident that his team can put it over the best in the country. "Bones" played on the team last year, and knows just about what to expect in the Intercollegiate League. Incidentally, Little is going to give the 'Varsity guards plenty of action this afternoon from the first blow of the referee's whistle until it is sounded for the last time by the timekeeper.

Big Cecil Hay will face Bell at centre, and there should be some stiff fighting in an attempt to get the jump. There are very few players in the country who can get the ball before Hay when it is thrown up, and he should give the 'Varsity man more than a run for his money. Laisley will work on the forward line with Little. "Bib" Laisley has developed into one of the most effective men on the team, and it is almost impossible to cover him when he is going at his best.

Lou Kern and Kemp hold down the guard positions. Kern is a general at the game, having played on the Senior team here ever since his advent to the College. Very few of the forwards try to get the ball down his side of the floor once they have attempted it unsuccessfully. Kemp was with 'Varsity last year. He knows the style of play used by his old team mates, and should be an effective man this afternoon.

Marsh Kern, Eddie Crain and Amaron will be ready to step into the game if called upon at any time to-day. (Continued on Page 4.)

COMPETITION KEEN IN SKI DASH TRIALS

Many Enthusiasts Were Present.

THREE HEATS.

Don Foss Nosed Out Alex. Glen By a Few Feet.

The ski dash was held yesterday and produced a large number of competitors. The race required three heats of six men in each, and the final. The results were as follows:

First heat—1. D. Gordon; 2. 1st heat—1. D. Gordon.
2. A. Glen.
2nd heat—1. D. B. Foss.
2. N. Owens.
3rd heat—1. Copeland.
2. J. B. Rutherford.
Final—1. D. B. Foss, Sci. '23.
2. A. Glen, Sci. '23.
3. N. Owens, Sci. '23.

The final was touch and go until the last few feet, when Dan Foss made a great spurt and nosed out Alex. Glen.

The cross-country race course was also laid out, and will provide some good skiing. The race starts near the Park Slide, at 2.30 p.m. to-day. From there, the course follows the old Park Slide to Shakespeare Road, then down to Cote des Neiges Road, turning to the right, down Cote des Neiges to the Montreal Ski Jump.

From there, the course leads up to near the Junior Jump, and then turns into the bushes to the left, and follows the path to the road near the top of the Westmount Mountain. It goes along this road and then cuts off to the left of the reservoir, across and up Cote des Neiges to the red house, and then in to the left and over to the Park Slide. The course follows that of the Montreal Ski Club from the jumps to near the Park Slide. (Continued on Page 4.)

HOCKEY SQUAD TURNS OUT IN BEST FORM

To Meet Their Old Rivals This Evening.

ROOTERS OUT.

"Thundering Thousand" To Stage a Record Performance at Arena To-Night.

To-night the Intercollegiate Hockey Squad will meet their old rivals, the Blue and White, at the Mount Royal Arena.

The Thundering Thousand will be on hand noisier than ever. They have been getting in some good work under the capable leadership of "Teedler" Thompson, and, beyond all doubt, they will not let their reputation fade in this evening's game. The team, although at their best, are counting on a record turnout of the noisy clan, and claim that they will have to have it if they are to register a win.

It is certainly hoped that a large number of students will take this opportunity of seeing their Senior team at their best. The game is sure to be a feature that no hockey fan can afford to miss. The championship for the year will practically be decided upon it. For if 'Varsity's team can defeat us upon our own ice they can be counted upon to do even better in Toronto. If we prove victorious there is an excellent chance to repeat the good work in Toronto. The support afforded the team in its City League matches has not been of the best, but doubtless the importance of this Intercollegiate match will bring out a record number of both men and women students.

The Intercollegiate team made a very good impression in their recent game with Loyola, and they are confident of coming out on top tomorrow. Most of the members of the team are at the top of their form. Flanagan has been putting up a first-class brand of hockey. Anderson is showing well once more, although he is not quite back in the best of condition. Goddard is handicapped somewhat with a bad shoulder, but is expected to take his usual place on the team.

The team will probably line up as follows:—Timmins, goal, with Stenson in reserve. Goddard and Culy, defence. Behan, Flanagan and Anderson, forwards, with Gallery and Dineen as spares.

ROOTERS' SCHEDULE

FOR THIS AFTERNOON

The Rooters' Club will turn out at the Highlanders' Armory for the basketball game with Varsity at 3.15 o'clock this afternoon. Arrangements will be made to put all of the rooters together inside of the building so that the yells may be given to the best of their ability. The tickets for the game may be obtained for fifty cents at the Porter's desk in the Union this morning.

FOR TO-NIGHT

Arrangements for the seating of the Rooters at to-night's big game in Mount Royal Arena are as follows:

All men will assemble at the corner of Park and Mount Royal Avenues at 7.30, making sure to be there by that time. At 7.30 they will proceed in a body to the Arena where special arrangements have been made to sell them tickets expeditiously. They will obtain tickets and the East end of the rink has been reserved for them until 7.45. This means that to get the best seats and be all together they have to be in their places by 7.45 in the rink. After this time the gates will be opened to anyone and to make sure the Rooters get the best seats and be able to keep together, all must be in their seats by 7.45. The price of the seats will be 50 cents and as this end is the best place from which to view the game, as there are no post to obstruct the view, the arrangement is considered to be the best possible.

Every available man is expected out as the whole support of the college is necessary to help the team out in this hard struggle.

Again—Leave corner Mount Royal and Park Avenues at 7.30 sharp and go into rink from Clarke Street entrance.

Be on time and bring the gang with you.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1921.

BE WITH THEM TO-DAY

To-day is a big day. Two intercollegiate matches are to be played. This afternoon the Varsity and the McGill basketball teams meet in the Highlanders' Armory. To-night these ancient rivals meet on the ice at the Arena.

The Blue and White Basketball Squad recently made a trip south of the border and won the reputation of being the fastest five seen in the States this season. If so, McGill is out to prove that she has the fastest basketball quintette in America. A win for McGill will place her at the top of the league with an excellent chance for the championship. Then Varsity can hardly do more than tie for the play-off. A loss will give Toronto a dangerous lead. The Red and White squad are going on the floor in the best of form, promising a game no lover of sport can afford to miss.

Needless to say, to-night's hockey game is a vital one. The winners will take the top of the league with excellent chances of remaining there. Our opponents have the reputation of having a very fast line-up. In the recent game with Loyola the McGill team made a most encouraging impression, and are resting for to-night's game confident and in top form. The result is, however, somewhat in doubt, and depends not only upon the players but upon the support which is given them. All out.

THE MAN HIMSELF

The notice boards of the various faculties have become of unique importance during the last few days. The confident face of the Junior and Senior betrays the marked experiences of former years, while the less advanced sophomore looks on with a bewildering smile; however, the greatest burden of uneasiness rests on the shoulders of those who have just experienced their first University examinations.

The majority of Freshmen now know whether their first term at the University has been a successful one—providing success is marked by Examination results. Undoubtedly there are some whose faces will disappear from the short habitation until some more convenient season of perfection; yet it is a relief to those who remain and have faced the ordeal successfully, that a low pass is not a legitimate criterion of the student's knowledge of the particular subject on which he has been examined. The pros and cons have been argued many times as to whether an honor system should be instituted. However, the present day system of examinations is not all that one might desire, but while a few professors, whose depleted classes relate a well known story, persist on a mode of dictation, no other system could be a success.

It is only by hard work and much perseverance can students attain to a marked degree of knowledge. Few, if any, are born geniuses, the very cleverest person confesses that his honor results have only been achieved and maintained by burning the midnight-oil and continually wading through even the minutest detail of the most technical subject. A great deal of credit is due the individual who can plod, and to be a plodder involves a mastering of one's self. Persistence in every sphere of life brings its reward, and the distant peaked heights can only be attained by advancing steadily with well-chosen steps.

It is true that there are some who wait until the Examinations loom up before them like insurmountable barriers, yet they claim that by a few weeks cramming, at the end of the term, they always manage to obtain a pass. Much may be said on behalf of such individuals, yet these are the very persons who are linked with the professors of dictation and are compelling the majority of the modern universities to carry on the present detested system of one-sided examination rulings. When every student begins to realize that a real education can only be obtained by a persistent struggle, that whereas every individual should have an opportunity to pursue an advanced course, yet it is likewise true that a paramount duty is due to oneself to be real and honest.

There are many students who could never graduate at their particular university because they could not master the details of one defined subject called for by a curriculum. However, if they were tested as to knowledge of real value they would surpass many of those who have managed to secure their diplomas. The present generation is alert and searching, and a man must have something more than a

The fact that inhabitants of the Medicine Hat district have undertaken to pay a man for supplying them with rain-water confirms our suspicion that it was not all aqua which the mad Hatters used as a libation in the pre-prohibition era.

A friend of ours who amassed a fortune in the ice business in that benighted burg, states that precious little of his product was ever dissolved in lemonade.

We were much interested in the first issue of the new Toronto humorous weekly, The Goblin. The editors are to be congratulated on their initial number. The press-work and the illustrations are impeccable. We should advise, however, if we may, slightly more time spent in finishing up the quips and verses. Some excellent matter was greatly weakened by the lack of a little polishing up.

Evidently our appeal for moral support for our colleague who suffered such a setback at the hands of his maidervant has not been without its effect. He has commenced a fresh file. For the continued preservation of this collection the prayers of the congregation are in order.

meaningless degree; he must be prepared to fill his position well, for the sluggard is always located and the shallow-minded pretender arrested.

There is within reach of every student at McGill a well-trained mind which will serve its rightful purpose in after life. Then for every student to work systematically and earnestly, a continual stream of light will beam upon the surprisingly hard problems, and the worry of examinations will be reduced to the least possible minimum.

Congratulations are due to every worker, particularly the man whose name appears for the first time, and the future outcome lies with the individual himself, he rises or falls and that at his own choice.

LIBRARIES FOR R. C. R. SOLDIERS

Alumnae Library Committee
To Collect For Library.

The Alumnae Library Committee has been asked by Company D. Royal Canadian Regiment, at present in barracks at the Prince of Wales Hospital, to supply books for a library.

The Alumnae Libraries were established in all the Military Hospitals of Montreal, and are still maintained at Ste Anne and at the Red Cross Hospital, McTavish Street, books being also sent to Ste Agathe. With the closing of several military hospitals in Montreal it was found that books could be offered to the Royal Victoria Hospital to found a regular wards of that hospital.

The Alumnae Library Committee decided that it could not expend any of its funds for a library in the barracks, but desired, if possible, to help the men of the Royal Canadian Regiment. It was, therefore, decided to try and collect books from graduates and students of McGill and their friends for the purposes of a library in the barracks.

McGill graduates and students are invited to donate suitable books—especially tales of adventure are in demand—and to send them to the Secretary, who kindly undertakes to collect them. Address, Miss Inez Baylis, 80, University Street.

A correspondent writes in to suggest that something be done about the "write-ups" of the basketball team.

He avers that the Christian names and affectionate diminutives of our hoopists hound him even in his dreams. "On one occasion," each and every member of the squad was mentioned in each of two articles appearing in one issue. This, he feels, is too much. He says that the only basketball player for whom he has any sympathy is Amaron, who appears only to have one cognomen. Surely some bright mind will be able to strike at the root of this evil before it attains the chronicity of the "Tea Hounds" thing.

R. V. C. LOSES CLOSE GAME TO 'VARSITY

Local Team Returns to Montreal To-Night.

SCORE: 32—28.

Kingston the Scene of an Unusual Intercollegiate Fixture.

Yesterday afternoon the R. V. C. Basketball Squad played their first intercollegiate game, when they met the Varsity sextette at Kingston on a foreign floor. The team, in spite of this disadvantage, and the tiresome trip which preceded, put up a hard fight, and only by a very close margin did they lose to the Torontonians.

For the last month the McGill representatives have been working incessantly and have developed an excellent standard of team play which in no small way baffled their opponents yesterday. The Varsity girls have apparently spent much time practicing as well. They showed a slightly more perfected style of team work at critical intervals. The match was closely contested from the beginning and provided plenty of excitement. Until the final minute it was still a question as to which University would carry off the coveted honors.

R. V. C. team as follows:—
 Forward—Miss Z. Slack and M. Leggett.

Centres—Miss M. Pick and Miss D. Russell.

Defence—Miss M. Fry and Miss K. Gillespie.

Varsity line-up was:—

Forward—Miss Berridge and Miss Crapp.

Centres—Miss Studholme and Miss Asmon.

Defence—Miss Sheir and Miss Young.

Final score 32-23.

The College Mirror

Narrow-Mindedness.

Mrs. J. F. Armstrong, matron of the University of California, favored the College paper with her opinion of college women. "Narrow-mindedness is the greatest fault of women to-day," according to Mrs. Armstrong, "and many of them cannot see beyond their classes. This is because they have never been outside of the State. I think that a travelling education is better than college training."

The Purpose of Examinations.

The following is taken from a letter appearing in the "Daily Illini," under the above heading: "... An examination that contains tricky insertions of useless data so as to cause mishaps, placing the major portion of an examination in problems involving data and details that are only glanced over in classes because of their inconspicuousness, is not to be desired. But to the contrary, examinations that are general, cover necessary material, and are beneficial are to be applauded."

Dalhousie Graduate Honored.

A former Dalhousian and graduate of the Law School of the College, has received signal distinction. In the list of Barons in the New Year Honors is the name of Mr. J. H. Dunn, who has been honored for "public services rendered to the Government during the war."

Western Inter-Varsity Debating.

The Universities of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and British Columbia are to be represented in an inter-collegiate contention on the National Resources Question and Article X of the League of Nations Covenant. The university winning two contests will be declared champions of the league.

Western Scientist Recognized.

Dr. Charles A. Kofoid, Professor of Zoology of the University of California, has been elected to the presidency of the American Society of Zoologists, and to the vice-presidency of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Professor Kofoid, who is also assistant director of the Schipps Institution for Biological Research, has been elected a corresponding member of the Royal Society of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene, of London.

New Swimming Record.

Yale's swimmers established a world's record for the 250 yard relay when they covered the distance in two minutes and six seconds. The event, which was part of the meet against Princeton, was won by Binyan, Jellicoe, Pratt, Solley and Thurston. The old record of 2:10-2-5 in the 250-yard relay was held by the N.Y.A.C., and was made at Rutgers College in 1915.

Manitoba Receives Research Appointment.

Miss Irene Mounce, M.A., of the University of Manitoba, has received the first appointment to the Hudson's Bay Company Research Fellowship, established in connection with the celebration last spring of the 250th anniversary of the founding of the trading company. Miss Mounce will take up the duties of the Fellowship on completion of her work under the Dominion Council for Scientific and Industrial Research, a student-ship of which she now holds.

Peru Rich in Forests.

Dr. Victor Belaunde, Professor of Political Science in the University of San Marco, Lima, Peru, made an important address at the University of Washington, in which he said that the future of his country was in the great forests of mahogany, oak, sandal wood and rubber. "Peru offers a most attractive place for foreign investment of money, with its wealth of mines, almost unlimited resources of the soil, and forests," the professor claimed.

The Hen.

Under the above title, and with the following opening words: "The hen is the mother of the junior partner of the great team—'Ham and Eggs,'" is written a very interesting article, in which the hen is characterized as a patient, useful being and greatly inferior to her boastful life companion. The following excerpts give an idea of the write-up:

"Her (the hen's) life partner we consider a boastful fellow. He considers himself an aristocrat. Maybe he is justified, as he once was a pugilist and led a life of luxury. ... Man, however, no longer admires him in combat, but the rooster in whose veins runs the blood of fighters, still cherishes a memory of his old importance. He never guesses that he is tolerated only because of his industriousness."

"Daybreak must try old Boddy's patience to the utmost. We wonder why she doesn't give the noisy male a good peck as he loudly announces he is rising early. ... Boddy is so unfortunate, else Chanticleer had been subdued into quietness a long time since, and his greeting to the sun would be 'sh—, my wife's asleep.'"

Possibly the rooster keeps his position because he makes a good press

ARTS TEAM WINS FROM LAST RIVALS

Fast and Close Game Ceded By Sci. '24.

SCORE: 3-1.

Sir Arthur Currie Spectator At Hockey Elimination.

Yesterday afternoon the hockey team of Arts '23 stood a crucial test when it lined up against the rivals from the Science Faculty. The ice was decidedly poor, but this drawback was alike to the evenly matched squads, who had never suffered a defeat this season.

The surprise of the game was the quick start made by Cantley, who, getting the puck just after the initial whistle, worked a clever rush and outdid Rochester by scoring the first tally.

For the next twenty minutes both faculty representatives struggled hard to break through each other's lines, but, owing to the excellent back-checking, Cantley was the only one who succeeded. During this time the Arts Sophs were unfortunate in losing Hutcheson, who received a bad cut in the eye.

During the second half the play became intensely interesting, especially when "Dave" Williamson kept charging down the ice, peppering Amaron with shots, and who finally netted one. From the start to the last minute of play the outcome was very doubtful, so well were the players matched. Shortly before the time limit was up, Cantley again made certain victory for his men by sagging the nets with a pretty shot from quarter ice.

The rooters were out in force to support their respective teams, which in a large measure is responsible for the fastest game of the season in the inter-class series. Among the many interested spectators present were Sir Arthur Currie and other members of the Staff of the University.

With this win, Arts '23 is placed in the lead, but whether this team will have to play off with Commerce remains in the results of the latter's next game with Medicine.

The teams lined up as follows:
Arts '23—(3) Science '24—(1)
Amaron.....Goal.....Rochester
Badger.....Defence.....Dion
Hutcheson.....Defence.....Williamson
Cantley.....Forward.....Luackson
Johnson.....Forward.....McGillie

HEAVEN PROTECT JAZZ!

"In this day of agitation for sweeping reforms in every conceivable direction ... we tremble lest next somebody will fall upon our beloved institution of jazz music with serious intent at destroying it."

"We sincerely hope as a constituent of a college undergraduate body, that this will never happen." Much as we are able to see the possibility of it. It would be a hard blow from which we college men and women might never fully recover. We mean that. No matter what the self-confessed aesthetes in our midst tell us to the effect that we are degenerating due to the influence of demoralizing jazz syncopations, we cling frantically to it like a drowning rat does to the top of his submerged cage.—Illini.

SWINGS and JABS

(By "Left Jab.")

At last the elimination contests are over. Men have already been chosen to represent McGill in the Intercollegiate Assault-at-Arms. Practices and severe training will now commence to put the champions into perfect condition for the great day. Many a cigarette company will lose some of its former good trade which it previously obtained from the boxers, who will do their utmost to leave Satan behind them and resist the great temptation of the fragrant weed. Great will be the strain, but overwhelming will be the victory if the men will get into good training and overcome the evils of Nick O'Tine, for wind is one of the essentials to a boxer. It is quite safe to say that if a man can go through four whirlwind three-minute rounds without being tired, he has an excellent chance for the Intercollegiate championship.

It is regrettable that several men of our last year's team did not compete in the eliminations. Badger, who was last year's light heavyweight champion, is suffering from a broken nose, which prevented him from boxing.

An outstanding feature of the bouts was the clean sportsmanship displayed by the boxers. When the opponents stopped into the ring, they were best of friends. They shook hands, and waited for the sound of the gong. When the latter was heard, the men fought hard but clean, and when the bout was over they were best of friends again. This was an exhibition of good sportsmanship, and was an outstanding example of McGill's reputation. Clean sportsmanship is the outstanding feature and the beauty of boxing, and the man who is beaten should get as much credit for his gameness as the man who won.

Another practice was held yesterday by the boxers in the Molson Gymnasium, where most of the boxers showed up. The Aurora Amateur Athletic Club are staging amateur bouts at the Prince Arthur Hall on Friday night, February 11th, in which the McGill boxers will be the outstanding feature of the evening's entertainment. The boxers will be matched against those of the Grenadier Guards, and will thus be given an opportunity of showing their mettle and ability against other boxers. All men of the University should show up to cheer for their men. Further particulars concerning same will appear in the "Daily" in the near future.

GUEST TO SPEAK IN HALL SUNDAY

Dr. Schofield is Distinguished Guest of Y.M.C.A.

Dr. F. W. Schofield, Professor of Bacteriology and Hygiene at Union Medical College, Seoul, Korea, is to be the guest of the McGill Y.M.C.A. this week, and will speak at the joint meeting of the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. in Strathcona Hall on Sunday evening. On Sunday morning he will be engaged at Macdonald College, and in the evening in one of the city churches.

Dr. Schofield has been energetically employed during his furloughs speaking at various centres in Canada. He visited the Eastern Colleges before Christmas, and is now to have a word with the students of McGill.

He is one of the restless spirits who seek a new order of things at home and abroad, and he is exceedingly frank in the statement of his convictions. The regular attendants at the Sunday evening meetings will not disappoint any friends whom they might bring with them.

The gathering in the Hall after church on Sunday will be the regular monthly meeting, and will have other features of interest, for the committee who have worked so faithfully and successfully on the arrangements for the "strings" have the programme in hand.

THEATRES

NEW GRAND.

The attraction at the New Grand Theatre, beginning Sunday, will be "Dinty," in which young Wesley Barry makes his bow to the picture-loving public in his first actual starring vehicle, directed by Marshall Neilan, who also wrote the story.

Advance reports state that the freckle-faced youngster of "Don't Ever Marry" and "Go Get It" has in this latest film made the finest performance of his brief but brilliant career. At any rate, Mr. Neilan has surrounded Wesley Barry with an excellent cast of players, including such favorites as Colleen Moore, J. Barney Sherry and Marjorie Daw. The balance of the cast includes Walter Chung, a young Chinaman, and Aaron Mitchell, a pikaninny, who plays the part of Barry's chum in "Dinty." "Dinty" is the tale of a fighting San Francisco newsboy, "Dinty" O'Sullivan. It deals with his rise to the head of the Newsboys' Trust, and the prominent part he plays in running down a band of Malay highlanders who have stolen the assistant district attorney's fiancée. Pathos, humor, romance and adventure are the four elements that Marshall Neilan has woven into the plot. Many of the scenes were photographed in San Francisco's Chinatown and waterfront, and some remarkable effects are said to have been obtained.

Other well selected features will make up the show. A special musical programme has been arranged by David S. Levin, and will be presented by the New Grand Orchestra.

THE PRINCESS.

Next week at the Princess Theatre, Irene Franklin and Burton Green will head the bill in a repertoire of songs of their own making. Miss Franklin stands paramount in her art, her songs, the lyrics of which are written by herself, the music by Burton Green, are everyone of them a classic and could be readily done into short story form. They embody the philosophy of human life and do not contain the usual hodge podge of meaningless words to fall tunelessly on the ear, but in every one of them is a human being, a life story. For their engagement at the Princess Theatre they have written new songs which are introducing other types hitherto unused and which are easily destined to be of equal popularity as their predecessors.

Al Liddell and Carleton May are both exceptionally clever character comedians. Each has a characterization with conspicuous success in various skits and plays. They will be seen in a little comedy with musical trimmings entitled, "Old Cronies," written specially for them by John J. McGowan.

Mrs. Gene Hughes will appear in a sketch from the pen of Emmet Devoy, entitled, "Contented Peggy," which affords her another opportunity for the delightful comedy at which she is a grandmaster.

Art Hall and Abe Shapiro have an offering called, "How Does He Stand It?" They are an able pair of comedians and deliver their comedy with deftness and dispatch. Florence Hobson and Eileen Beatty, contralto and soprano, give a song recital that is charming and difficult.

Sandy Shaw is a Scottish comedian who comes with the personal endorsement of Sir Harry Lauder, and who has the latter's permission to sing any of his songs on the vaudeville stage. He also has a number of his own and has been making a hit wherever he has appeared. The little oddity presented by Sylvia Loyd & Co. is a visualization of one of "The Adventures of Fairplay," with all the charm and wholesomeness that these stories contain. Homer Romaine, an eccentric gymnast, who introduces much comedy in hazardous feats, will complete the bill.

artists will be the feature of the vaudeville bill at Loew's all next week. This production is announced as a "show in itself," and should find popular favor with the public. A lively plot is introduced and special songs and dances are featured.

Owing to the length of the act just mentioned, only three other feature attractions will be on the programme. Murray Livingstone, a clever artist, will present his character production classic, "The Dreamer"; the Aerial Macks will stage some spectacular feats in midair, and Mc Connell and West will offer melodies, humor and dancing specialties.

Ethel Clayton in "Sins of Rosanne" will be the photoplay attraction. "Sins of Rosanne" is a particularly thrilling picture, depicting the adventures of a beautiful young girl transformed, by the evil power of a Malay witch, into a Jekyll-Hyde type with an obsession for jewellery. How she finally emerges from her unenviable experience is well and dramatically told.

Buster Keaton in "The Scarecrow"—a Metro comedy, and Loew's British Canadian News Weekly, will complete the bill.

ORPHEUM.

A cyclone of fun, mirth from the first few moments until the end of the play, "Wedding Bells" which the Orpheum Players present next week is said to be one of the happiest farces seen on the stage in years. The story is funny in the situations which the author has created, the lines are choicely of comedy that is infectious and none can resist.

The story of "Wedding Bells" centres around the trials and tribulations which a young man experiences when he is about to undertake marriage a second time. His first wife having divorced him and left him heart-sore for the time being, he finds another who seems to fill the void in his life and they are about to be married when the first wife arrives upon the scene and announces that there will be no ceremony unless she is again a principal in the event. The prospective bridegroom finds himself in an unusual predicament of having two women as claimants for the marital partnership. Whether he disappear and leave the two women to fight it out between them or to remain and proceed with the ceremony, or to accede to the demands of the first wife is the dilemma which the young man must decide. The unravelling of the tangle furnishes comedy situations and dialogue that keep an audience rocking with mirth throughout the three acts. The play is typically farce comedy; the action of the story is continued at top speed and there is no let-up in the fun. "Wedding Bells" has been described as a laugh knockout in three rounds; its success was instantaneous when first presented on any stage and it comes to Montreal with the reputation of being one of the merriest, brightest and cleanest plays of recent years.

GAYETY.

Dave Marion's new show, "Snappy Snaps" comes to the Gayety for a week's engagement commencing with the matinee on Monday. Described as "A Revue of Pleasure" and programmed as "A Carnival of Fun, Music and Beauty," the show will be presented in two acts and ten scenes with a cast of all well known players and a big chorus of especially trained singers and dancers.

The principal comedy role is in the hands of Charlie Howard, who, for the past two seasons has been with Raymond Hitchcock in "Hitchy Koo." Helen McMahon, for several seasons a favorite with Ziegfeld's "Follies" and more recently at the Winter Garden, New York, is also a member of the cast. The Runaway Four are featured in a series of funny scenes and specialties which include, what is said to be the fastest and most sensational acrobatic number ever seen on a theatrical stage. With Art Harris, in a Hebrew character comedy part and Harry O'Day as the singing juvenile, the male contingent is well taken care of while other important parts are played by Ernest Mack, Tom O'Brien, James Oliver, William Cathart and Harold Boyd. Frankie Niblo leads the galaxy of lady stars, while the various scenes take the audience to: "Anywhere," "Somewhere," "Justwhere," "Nowhere," "Wonderwhere" and to other "where's" which are said to keep the eye tangled with the rapid succession of scenic changes.

Canada closed the year 1920 with a fire loss of approximately $27,460,000, equal to $38.42 per capita on an eight million population, or $17.10 per family—a new record, and one worthy of much thought.

THEOLOGIANS HELD ANNUAL WINTER PARTY

Toboggan Party Replaced
Snowshoe Tramp.

ENJOYABLE EVENT.

"Mysterious" Bottle Caused Much Amusement.

The residents of the Presbyterian College spent a most enjoyable evening on Thursday, when they held their snowshoe tramp, though this time it turned out to be a toboggan party. As it happened, the weather would not have been so bad for snowshoeing, but Theologians are not weather prophets, and as it was still icy on Tuesday they decided that the mountain would be more suited to tobogganing. The decision seems to have been a most fortunate one, as the old-timers, who have attended these annual affairs from time immemorial, voted this evening the best yet. Everyone entered heart and soul into the spirit of the fun, enjoying to the full the chance to go back to the days of their childhood and have a really good roll in the snow.

About twenty-five couples gathered about eight o'clock. They set off as soon as possible for the mountain. Here they found the sliding a bit poor at first, but as the snow became trampled down the hill got faster and faster. It was ten o'clock before anyone gave a thought to returning. But about then even the most enthusiastic began to hanker a little for the excellent "cats" they knew to be waiting for them. So the merry party started on the way home. En route a bottle of rather questionable character was found, the gentleman who discovered it, by a curious coincidence—which makes one think that after all there is something in a name—happening to possess a name strangely similar to that applied to the contents. (Since that time the bottle has miraculously disappeared. It is wondered if the contents have also gone).

The refreshments, provided by Mrs. Williams, the matron, proved to be up to her usual high standard, and were most eagerly devoured, to use the proper word, by the hungry crowd. After this the party adjourned upstairs to the common room, where several dances were had, Patterson kindly supplying the music.

During a lull in the proceedings Professor George Smith, the famous exponent of the terpsichorean art, gave a short exhibition of a couple of the ultra-modern steps, some of which are quite original. This addition to the entertainment was very much appreciated by all the spectators. Finally, about midnight the merry gathering broke up, voting the evening the best ever.

From the Slide it goes through the Pines and over to the Lookout, and from there to the Observatory on the top of the Mountain. From there it again follows the Montreal course down to the Iron fence, where a sharp right turn is made. A sign will be placed at that spot. From there it cuts down to Fletcher's Field, near the old Incline Railway, and follows the fence down to Pine Avenue. It runs up Pine Avenue to University, and then down to the grounds entrance at the New Medical Building, and down to the finish on the campus. The course is marked by strips of blue cheesecloth until it strikes the fence near the Incline Railway. From there on there are no markings. The course over which the Montreal Ski Club are holding their race is marked with red. Our course only touches it as before mentioned, although at times it runs nearly parallel to it. Competitors should read the above directions very carefully and remember that the McGill course is marked with blue—not red. They should also be careful not to follow any of the Montreal men. The blue, unfortunately, does not show up very well, but was the only other color obtainable, the Montreal Ski Club having already chosen the red.

The results of the Inter-faculty competitions show Science leading. The points are: Science, 20; MacDonald, 5, and Arts, 3. However, both Medicine and Arts will be well represented in to-day's race. The probable team for Dartmouth will be: Birks, Leslie, Whittall, Sherrard, Foss, Glen and the first two in the cross-country race. The prospects for the coming Intercollegiate Meet are excellent, and every man mentioned above can be counted on to do everything in his power for Old McGill, and that everything, as the competitions have shown, is a great deal.

From 510 salmon, taken in nets between 2nd June and 5th August, 2,800,000 eggs were secured and placed in hatchery at Tadoussac, Que.

The Worst Yet

It has arrived at last. Our weary editors, in search of news and otherwise have acquired a new addition to the staff in the person of Mr. Odontoid Racemose. He has been given a trial, and has produced a column which is confidently estimated to be the worst yet. The column will not be continued, as one spasm is considered enough.

CANADIANS SHOULD KNOW COUNTRY

Every Traveller Should Be a Missionary of its Advantages.

A knowledge of one's country should be the first essential of the patriotic citizen's education. Witout this knowledge he is neither prepared to advocate its advantages nor to defend it from deprecatory criticism. Canada has much that her citizens should be proud of, but, unfortunately, this fact is not as well known as it should be by her citizens. Every Canadian should know what Canada's forests, mines, fisheries, wild life and waterways represent to the country. Many thousands go abroad every year and a very large number spend a portion of the winter season in southern climes. Each and every one of these travellers should be a missionary for Canada, spreading knowledge of its many advantages.

This information is available for the asking, the Commission of Conservation being authorized by Parliament to secure and compile information on Canada's natural resources and to advise the public of the same. The Commission has available many valuable reports, two of which, "Water-powers of British Columbia," and "Forests of British Columbia," have been recently issued. They are handsomely illustrated and contain much valuable information on that western province which it would be of advantage for the resident of Eastern Canada to know. These reports may be had on request.

night. Any of these men can take the places of the regulars without diminishing the strength of the team, so that there is no reason to be nervous if anyone is forced to stop playing, an eventuality which is not hoped for but is always probable.

The biggest crowd ever seen at a basketball game in the city is expected this afternoon at the Highlanders' Armoury. Fortunately the building is about the largest of its type in the city and can accommodate any number of spectators. It is safe to say that the advance sale of tickets for the game is the largest on record for any basketball game at the College, if not for the city. A large number of the spectators will be outsiders, as the fame of the two teams has travelled far.

The Varsity team made a trip through the United States, and was considered one of the fastest fives seen there for some time. McGill is out to show this afternoon that there is a faster quintette right in Montreal.

The remaining tickets for the game are on sale at the Union this morning, and may be obtained at the door of the Armoury this afternoon. The big hall will not hold every student in the College, and McGill men are asked to get them early so that they will have the preference over the outsiders.

A game will commence at 2 o'clock between North Branch "Y" and Highlanders' Seniors and should be fast, as both teams are clever outfits.

RESIDENTS OF PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE WIN

Score Double Victory Over Anglicans.

GOOD SCORES.

Amaron Stars in Basketball,
Turning Apparent Defeat
Into Victory.

The sport-loving residents of the Presbyterian College were greatly cheered by a double victory scored over the Anglicans yesterday, when both their hockey and basketball teams were successful in registering wins. The basketball win was rather looked for, but the hockey game was in doubt, and indeed until the second period it was anybody's game.

The Diocesans started off with a dangerous rush and succeeded in pushing one past Anderson. It was quite a few minutes afterwards before McCormick evened up the score with a pretty shot from the side. He duplicated this feat a few minutes later. Then Connor decided it was time to do a little scoring, and tied the score for the last time. At this point Dempsey appeared for the Presbyterians, and the tide of fortune set in for them. Just before the end of the period, Dempsey scored on a nice individual rush, making it 3-2.

In the second half the winners just walked away with the game, Hall, McGerrigle, Dempsey and McCormick each getting one, the final tally reading 7-2. For the Presbyterians, Dempsey and McGerrigle on defence played splendid games, while Anderson, who substituted for Amaron in goals, proved a fine net-minder. The forward line all played well together, and to pick out any man for special mention would be unfair. For the losers, Connor and Wilson played well, and were dangerous at all times.

The teams lined up as follows:
Presbyterians: Anderson...Goal...Norman
Dempsey...Defence...Starkie
McGerrigle...Defence...Dickie
Harris...Forward...Wilson
Hall...Forward...Wiggins
McCormick...Forward...Corrigan
Subs.—Presbyterians: Avison.
Anglicans: Rowatt, Egg, Cowan.
Referee—Kelloway.

The basketball game took place in Molson Hall at 7.30. This was a very keenly contested match, and until Amaron came on the game was really in the Anglicans' hands. Amaron had not intended to play, but seeing how matters were going, he was induced to go on, and in the ten minutes he played the score was brought from 8-11 to 29-14, showing the large power for good that one man can have.

The first period began with both teams playing hard. The Presbyterians got away early and had the score 8-2. But then the Anglicans came back with a rush, holding their opponents scoreless, while they added four points to their own count, the half closing 8-6 in favor of the Presbyterians. At this point Amaron went home for his togs.

During the first five minutes of the second period, the Anglicans netted another five points, giving them a three-point lead. Now, however, Amaron came on and the tide set the other way for good. Besides his own scoring, which amounted to thirteen, his presence seemed to inspire the other members of the team, who all started playing well together, Avison getting three baskets after he found his stride.

A feature of the game was the excellent playing of Lemessurier and the shooting of Norman, who was at his best with the penalty shots. Cameron at centre, too, was right on the job, while the defence were very effective. The Presbyterians all played well after they collected themselves so to speak, so as to make it impossible to single out anyone for special mention.

The teams lined up as follows:
Presbyterians: Stewart...Defence...Hatcher
Cousens...Defence...Radmore
Woodhouse...Centre...Cameron
Avison...Forward...Lemessurier
Hutton...Forward...Norman
Subs.—Presbyterians: Amaron, McPhail. Anglicans: Egg, Radmore.

A negro employed at one of the movie studios in Los Angeles was drafted by a director to do a novel comedy scene with a lion.

"You get into the bed," ordered the director, "and we'll bring the lion in and put him in bed with you. It will be a scream."

"Put a lion in bed with me!" yelled the negro. "No, sah! Not a-tall! I quits right here and now."

"But," protested the director, "this lion won't hurt you. This lion was brought up on milk."

"So was I brung up on milk," wailed the negro, "but I eats meat now."—The Saturday Evening Post.
